Dear Parents and Carers,

We are delighted to announce that next week will be Science Week! We will start our week on Monday 20th June with an assembly hosted by Laura Ashfield from the Surrey Wildlife Trust. In her 'Action for Insects' talk, she will encourage children to think about how they can help wildlife, particularly insects in our school grounds.

The fun will continue on Tuesday 21st June, with an exciting science show called 'What on Earth is that?' in which the children will learn about materials through practical demonstrations.

Together with raising the profile of science, we want to develop our children's enquiry skills through enjoyable and memorable activities. Each year group will have the opportunity to research their own science topic or question during the week, before reporting their results on Friday 24th June to the rest of the school. Year 3 classes will be looking at seed dispersal. Year 4 classes will be making rockets using plastic bottles. Year 5 will be making their own compost. Year 6 will be studying changing states.

We are looking forward to sharing some of their amazing experiments with you via our website news stories next week.
