

I see you, you full of strength and determination. You are my King right to the bottom of my heart. Thou deserve better! You might be my king; why not our beloved kingdom's? Imagine you... The strong, handsome Thane of Cawdor, reigning the land where people would love and admire him! You are brave and loyal to the country; you deserve better! I am so desperate for you, Macbeth, to become king! Use your courage to take the crown! You can't stay Thane of Cawdor forever! If don't do the deed, your desire would never come true. I know you think this is treason but on the whole, I think you are doing the right thing. If you want the crown, why not take it? I would come to aid and guide thou out your darkest moments. Your destiny is in your hands. Imagine how proud I would be, beaming as my husband, the king with a heart of gold sitting on the throne. How it would flatter me! Thy might think it's a bad thing, but trust me; you would have a happy life!

Thy served the foolish king for many years. This is not only yours, but my dream to. Macbeth, I believe thou! Think how proud I would be! The kingdom would look up to the muscular, almighty king Macbeth. Kill the king and have courage ♣ Macbeth!
