WALT: use features of a persuasive argument. (A)

*Scotland

My brave husband, you can't forget about me. I, your wife, have been with you ever since, supporting you. Don't you think I get to be queen? If you don't care about my support for you, and you take me for granted, then what man are you? If you can't even kill king Duncan for the people of Scotland, then are you really brave? Show me, show the people of Scotland that you are brave, that you are a good can be a good king. If you can't kill king Duncan, then thou aren't the man I married. I could go find another man.

My loyal husband, this is your chance. If you don't want to do it, I will remind you for one last time. Remember, this is for the people of Scotland. For Scotland, the country you love. If don't do it I will never become queen. And, if you don't do it I may leave you... do it for Scotland's people, do it for the good.
