

But before all that, there was the first adventure a Brownstone ever had. This is the tale of Arthur, the unlikeliest of heroes.

Born long ago in a small Icelandic town, it was clear from an early age that Arthur was always going to be a bit different.

Now that we are entering the world of Arthur's story, what do you notice about the new environment/setting?

Do you notice anything unusual?

Are you surprised by anything?

Are there any questions that you would like to ask?

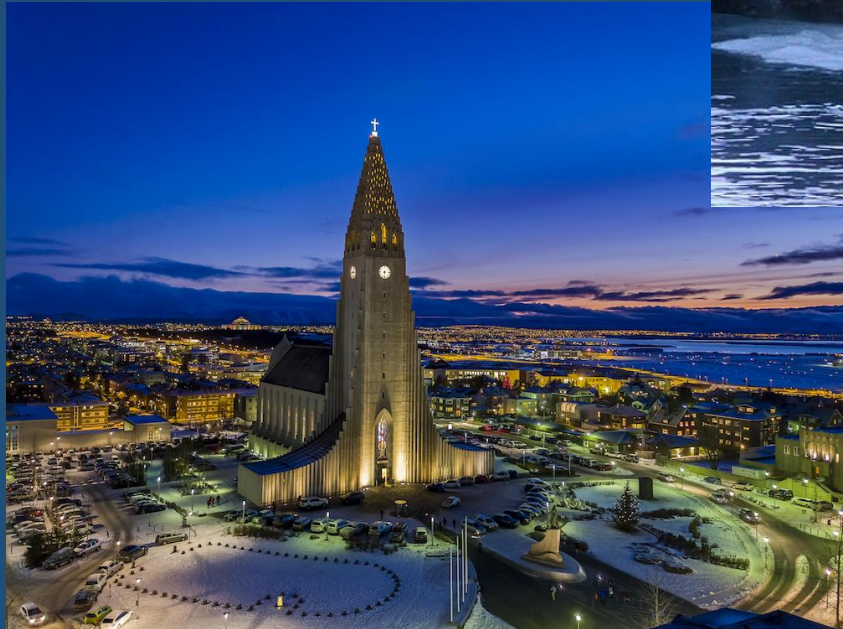

On the next two slides, you will see images of the country Iceland.

Write down:

- Anything you notice or spot in the images
- Anything that puzzled you
- What you liked or disliked
- Would you like to visit Iceland, why?

Imagine you are trying to convince a friend to come on holiday with you to Iceland.

Write down 5 reasons why they should come with you to Iceland.

Use the previous pictures to help you. You may also use these websites to find out more information about Iceland.

Watch these clips and think about how they are persuading you to visit Iceland.

Why should somebody visit Iceland?

What are its selling points?

What will they see?

What can they do?

Your task today is to write a short advert that will persuade people to go on holiday to Iceland. There is an example below for you to read.

You may even want to record yourself reading it out loud.

Don't forget to...

Focus on the positives

Use powerful descriptive language to describe the setting

Describe the activities people can take part in. Make Iceland irresistible.

Come and be inspired by Iceland

You can feel the energy on this magical island and its astonishing natural beauty is legendary. Located near the top of the globe, this country is filled with crisp, clean air and stunning landscapes. You have the chance to relax in the natural hot springs or take a boat trip amongst the serene icebergs. The Northern Lights transform the night sky into a natural lava lamp and should not be missed.
