

under the sea

Alongside the boat I can see tiny seahorses drifting peacefully away in a current making me think of my homeland.

Beside the boat I can see tiny, gleaming fish gliding gracefully around some coral which gave me a spread of warmth back down my body.

Upon the ocean I can see huge fish gliding across the ominous, shimmering coral.

Amongst the seaweed I can see small nimble clownfish flapping their tails dramatically.

Below the ocean's surface I can see small vibrant fish dancing along the seabed.

