The Stone Age

Stoneage

Introduction

The Stone Age covers almost all of Human History! Through most of the stone age, people were hunter-gatherers, they gradually developed to live in groups and communicate.

Shelter

Stone age people needed shelter to keep warm and dry. Some people lived in natural caves, others live in man-made grass houses or animal-skin huts.

Tools & Weapons

People in the Stone age regularly needed to cut up meat, scrape skin, hunting animals & cut up plants. Stone was the best & most common material to make tools and weapons.

Food

In the Stone age before Agriculture people relied on gathering fruits and berries or hunt animals using they made. Now you may be thinking "don't they just eat meat?" well no! They had a more balanced diet than us Homo-Sapiens! (1)

Clothing

Just as we do today, Early people needed to stay warm. In later Stone age times, clothes were made from grasses and plant stems and woven it to make fabric using The World's 1st Needles. (Fun-Fact)
